

Hello Neighbor,

I'm Connor, and I don't just work in real estate—I live right here in Lawrenceville. I understand what makes our community special and how the unique character of our neighborhood contributes directly to the value of your current home or future home.

Whether you're thinking of selling (or buying), curious about today's market, or simply want to know how your home value has changed, I'm here as both your neighbor and your trusted resource.

If you'd like a complimentary neighborhood market update—or just want to chat about the local real estate landscape—please don't hesitate to reach out.
